

PREDISPONENT

Meaning: Predisponent (noun): a factor or condition that makes someone more susceptible to a particular disease or issue.

1. Certain genetic factors can act as a predisponent for developing chronic diseases.
2. The environmental conditions in the region serve as a predisponent to respiratory issues among the population.
3. Early exposure to certain allergens may be a predisponent for asthma in children.
4. Hereditary traits can be a significant predisponent in the onset of various mental health disorders.
5. Understanding the predisponent factors can help in creating effective prevention strategies for illnesses.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/predisponent>