

PREDISPOSITION

Meaning: Predisposition refers to a tendency or inclination to develop a particular condition or behavior, often due to genetic or inherent factors.

1. Her predisposition to anxiety made it difficult for her to enjoy social gatherings.
2. The study revealed a genetic predisposition to certain health conditions in the population.
3. His early exposure to music created a predisposition for him to become a talented musician.
4. The child's predisposition for empathy was evident in how she interacted with her peers.
5. Despite her predisposition for success, she faced numerous challenges along the way.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/predisposition>