

PREGNANTLY

Meaning: In a manner that suggests or implies something significant, often with an air of importance or anticipation.

1. She walked into the room pregnantly, radiating a glow that caught everyone's attention.
2. The cat stretched out on the windowsill, purring pregnantly as it watched the world go by.
3. He spoke pregnantly, emphasizing the weight of his words as he shared his hopes for the future.
4. The atmosphere in the meeting felt pregnantly charged with unspoken tension and anticipation.
5. As they discussed their plans, she glanced at him pregnantly, hinting at the life they were about to build together.
6. She walked into the room, pregnant with possibilities for the future.
7. The atmosphere was thick with tension, pregnantly charged with unspoken words.
8. He glanced at her, a smile spreading across his face as he watched her pregnantly contemplate their next adventure.
9. The garden was pregnantly alive with the vibrant colors of spring, promising new life.
10. In the quiet of the library, ideas hung pregnantly in the air, waiting to be discovered.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/pregnantly>