

PRODUCIBILITY

Meaning: Producibility refers to the ease or feasibility of manufacturing a product or material, particularly in terms of design, efficiency, and cost-effectiveness.

1. The producibility of the new design has been thoroughly evaluated by the engineering team.
2. Researchers are focusing on enhancing the producibility of bioengineered materials for medical applications.
3. Manufacturers need to assess the producibility of their products to ensure efficiency and cost-effectiveness.
4. The concept of producibility is crucial in the early stages of product development to avoid future complications.
5. By improving the producibility of components, the company aims to reduce lead times and increase market responsiveness.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/producibility>