

PROPOUND

Meaning: To propound means to put forward or suggest an idea, theory, or viewpoint for consideration or discussion.

1. The professor decided to propound a new theory regarding the origins of the universe.
2. During the debate, she was quick to propound her views on the importance of environmental conservation.
3. In his latest book, the author aims to propound innovative solutions to global poverty.
4. The scientist would often propound complex ideas in a way that was easy for the public to understand.
5. At the conference, several experts gathered to propound their perspectives on the future of artificial intelligence.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/propound>