

PUDDING-HEADED

Meaning: PUDDING-HEADED (adjective): lacking clarity or intelligence; confused or foolish in thought or expression.

1. She felt rather pudding-headed after staying up all night studying for her exams.
2. His pudding-headed remarks during the meeting left everyone confused about the main topic.
3. Despite his intelligence, he sometimes came off as pudding-headed when discussing simple concepts.
4. The pudding-headed decision to ignore the warning signs proved to be a costly mistake.
5. After the long hike, I was so tired that I felt completely pudding-headed and could hardly think straight.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/pudding-headed>