

PYOCYANIN

Meaning: Pyocyanin is a blue-green pigment produced by the bacterium Pseudomonas aeruginosa, commonly associated with infections, particularly in the lungs.

1. Pyocyanin is a pigment produced by the bacterium Pseudomonas aeruginosa, often associated with infections.
2. The presence of pyocyanin in a clinical sample can be indicative of a severe lung infection.
3. Researchers are studying the effects of pyocyanin on cell signaling pathways in various organisms.
4. In laboratory tests, pyocyanin has demonstrated antimicrobial properties against several bacterial strains.
5. The blue-green color of pyocyanin can often be observed in cultures of Pseudomonas aeruginosa growing on agar plates.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/pyocyanin>