

RATIONALISM

Meaning: Rationalism is the philosophical belief that reason is the chief source of knowledge and that certain truths can be known through intellectual deduction rather than sensory experience.

1. Rationalism emphasizes reason as the primary source of knowledge.
2. The philosophy of rationalism has influenced many scientific advancements throughout history.
3. In contrast to empiricism, rationalism asserts that certain truths can be known independently of experience.
4. Many philosophers, including Descartes, championed rationalism in their quest for fundamental truths.
5. Rationalism can often lead to groundbreaking theories that challenge established beliefs.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/rationalism>