

REANNEX

Meaning: Reannex (verb): to reclaim or restore control over a territory that was previously annexed but lost.

1. The government plans to reannex the territory that was lost during the conflict.
2. After years of negotiations, the nation sought to reannex the region and restore its former borders.
3. Activists rallied to support the movement to reannex the historically significant lands.
4. The leader confidently announced that they would reannex the disputed area by the end of the year.
5. In a surprising turn of events, they decided to officially reannex the province after a referendum.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/reannex>