

REARRANGEMENT

Meaning: Rearrangement refers to the act of changing the position or order of something.

1. The rearrangement of the furniture completely transformed the room.
2. After the rearrangement of the schedule, we finally found a time that worked for everyone.
3. The scientist proposed a rearrangement of the molecular structure to improve the compound's effectiveness.
4. Their rearrangement of the team's roles led to a more efficient workflow.
5. She was pleased with the rearrangement of her garden, which allowed for more sunlight to reach the plants.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/rearrangement>