

RECEPTIBILITY

Meaning: Receptibility is the capacity or willingness to accept and integrate new ideas or information.

1. The receptibility of the local community to new ideas often drives innovation.
2. In psychology, receptibility refers to an individual's capacity to receive and integrate new information.
3. Her receptibility to constructive criticism made her an excellent candidate for leadership roles.
4. The study focused on the receptibility of different age groups to changes in technology.
5. Artists often rely on the receptibility of their audience to gauge the impact of their work.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/receptibility>