

RECIPROK

Meaning: Reciprok (verb): to exchange or respond to a gesture, action, or feeling in a mutual or equivalent manner.

1. The two countries agreed to reciprocate each other's trade tariffs to foster better economic relations.
2. In a true friendship, both parties must reciprocate feelings and support for one another.
3. The charity aims to reciprocate the kindness shown by the community through various outreach programs.
4. She hoped that her generosity would be reciprocated in kind during her time of need.
5. The scientists intended to reciprocate the research findings to ensure collaborative progress in their field.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/reciprok>