

RECOMPOSITION

Meaning: Recomposition refers to the process of rearranging or reinterpreting existing elements, such as themes or music, to create a new and innovative work.

1. The artist's latest work is a bold recombination of classical themes with modern techniques.
2. The recombination of the music allowed new interpretations to emerge during the performance.
3. After the storm, the natural landscape underwent a slow but beautiful recombination.
4. The scientist proposed a recombination of the data to better reflect the current findings.
5. In literature, recombination can breathe new life into old stories, making them relevant again.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/recomposition>