

RECRUIT

Meaning: To enlist or hire individuals for a position or role, typically to fill a vacancy or enhance a team's capabilities.

1. The company plans to recruit new talent to enhance its innovative capabilities.
2. After an extensive search, they finally decided to recruit a project manager with international experience.
3. To ensure a diverse workforce, the organization aims to recruit candidates from different backgrounds.
4. She was determined to recruit volunteers for the charity event to maximize its impact.
5. As a seasoned recruiter, he understood the importance of matching candidates' skills with the company's needs.
6. The company plans to recruit new talent to enhance its innovative projects.
7. During the job fair, she was eager to recruit potential candidates for her team.
8. They decided to recruit volunteers for the community service initiative.
9. The military is always looking to recruit young men and women for various roles.
10. To ensure success, the organization must recruit individuals with diverse skill sets.
11. The company decided to recruit more staff to handle the increased workload.
12. He was eager to recruit talented individuals for his new startup.
13. Many universities hold job fairs to help students recruit potential employers.
14. The military often holds events to recruit young people for service.
15. Nonprofit organizations frequently seek to recruit volunteers for various community projects.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/recruit>