REDIRECT

Meaning: Redirect: to change the course or focus of something, such as a web address or a person's career.

1. The website will automatically redirect you to the new page after a few seconds.
2. She decided to redirect her career towards environmental science for a more fulfilling path.
3. During the meeting, he suggested they redirect their focus to the project's main objectives.
4. If the link is broken, the system will redirect users to a helpful error page.
5. The teacher chose to redirect the students' energy into a group project to foster collaboration.

---

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/redirect