

REDUCENT

Meaning: Reducent: serving to simplify or reduce something, often at the expense of important details or complexities.

1. The company's new policy is a reductive approach to improving employee efficiency.
2. Her attempt to simplify the complex topic was intended to be reductive, but it missed some essential details.
3. In a reductent environment, every little change can lead to significant improvements in productivity.
4. The documentary took a reductive stance on the issue, omitting many key perspectives.
5. By focusing solely on cost-cutting, the strategy became reductive and failed to consider long-term growth.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/reducent>