

REDUPLICATE

Meaning: Reduplicate: to repeat or duplicate something, especially in a way that emphasizes or reinforces it.

1. The researcher aimed to reduplicate the experiment to verify the initial findings.
2. In some dialects, speakers may tend to reduplicate certain words for emphasis.
3. To emphasize her excitement, she decided to reduplicate the word "fun" as "fun fun."
4. The artist used the concept of reduplication to create a playful effect in her poem.
5. In linguistics, reduplicate forms can convey various grammatical meanings and nuances.
6. The linguist explained how certain languages can reduplicate syllables for emphasis.
7. In her poetry, she chose to reduplicate words to create a rhythmic effect.
8. The child learned to reduplicate the sounds of animals, delighting everyone around her.
9. During the workshop, participants were encouraged to reduplicate phrases to enhance their storytelling.
10. The artist decided to reduplicate her signature motif throughout the series to maintain cohesion.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/reduplicate>