

REGENESIS

Meaning: Regeneration refers to a process of profound transformation or renewal, particularly in the context of restoring or revitalizing biological systems or human potential.

1. The concept of regeneration suggests a profound transformation in understanding human potential.
2. After years of research, the scientists announced a breakthrough that could lead to the regeneration of damaged tissues.
3. In literature, themes of regeneration often symbolize rebirth and renewal in characters' journeys.
4. The art exhibit explored the idea of regeneration through various forms of visual expression.
5. Many believe that innovations in technology can facilitate the regeneration of our ecosystem.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/regeneration>