RENUNCIATORY

Meaning: RENUNCIATORY: relating to the act of formally rejecting or disavowing a belief, claim, or association.

1. The politician issued a renunciatory statement, distancing herself from the controversial policies of her predecessor.

2. After much contemplation, he wrote a renunciatory letter to his former employer, expressing his desire to leave the company.

3. The artist's latest work is a renunciatory piece, reflecting his rejection of commercial success in favor of personal expression.

4. During the meeting, she made a renunciatory declaration, announcing her intention to step down from her leadership role.

5. His renunciatory attitude towards material possessions surprised his friends, who knew him as a once-ambitious entrepreneur.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/renunciatory