

REORGANIZATION

Meaning: Reorganization is the act of restructuring an organization or system to enhance its efficiency, effectiveness, or alignment, often following changes such as mergers or shifts in strategy.

1. The company's reorganization aimed to improve efficiency and reduce costs.
2. After the merger, a significant reorganization took place to align the two corporate cultures.
3. Employees were apprehensive about the upcoming reorganization and what it might mean for their roles.
4. The reorganization resulted in a more streamlined management structure and clearer communication channels.
5. As part of the reorganization process, several new teams were created to address emerging market trends.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/reorganization>