

REP

Meaning: 'Rep' is a noun that refers to a representative, often someone who promotes or advocates for a product, service, or idea, or it can also refer to a repetition of an exercise in fitness contexts.

1. The athlete was proud to have achieved her personal best in the rep competition.
2. During the meeting, the rep presented a compelling case for the new marketing strategy.
3. He decided to hire a sales rep to help expand his business into new markets.
4. Each week, she aimed to increase the number of reps she could complete in her workout routine.
5. The rep from the tech company answered all of our questions about the new software.
6. The athlete had a solid rep on the team, known for his dedication and teamwork.
7. During the meeting, she emphasized the importance of maintaining a good rep for the company.
8. He completed three sets of ten reps at the gym, pushing himself to increase his strength.
9. The marketing campaign aimed to enhance the brand's rep among younger consumers.
10. In the debate, she effectively countered the opposing argument to protect her rep as a knowledgeable speaker.