

REPLACEABLE

Meaning: REPLACEABLE: capable of being substituted or exchanged for something or someone else without significant loss or impact.

1. Some positions in the company are considered replaceable, allowing for greater flexibility in staffing.
2. While the artwork was stunning, the artist insisted that it was the idea behind it that was truly replaceable.
3. In the world of technology, certain components are designed to be replaceable to extend the life of a device.
4. He realized that no one is truly replaceable, as each person brings their own unique perspective to the team.
5. The coach emphasized that the team's spirit was more important than any individual player, making everyone replaceable.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/replaceable>