

REPLEVIABLE

Meaning: Repleviable refers to property or assets that can be reclaimed or recovered, especially in legal contexts involving restitution or the return of stolen goods.

1. The court determined that the funds were repleviable, allowing the plaintiff to reclaim their property.
2. In cases involving stolen goods, the law often recognizes them as repleviable assets.
3. The attorney argued that the equipment was repleviable, as it had been wrongfully taken from his client.
4. To recover her belongings, she filed a motion asserting that the items were indeed repleviable.
5. The judge ruled in favor of the claimant, stating that the lost items were clearly repleviable under the circumstances.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/repleviable>