

REPLEVY

Meaning: Replevy is a legal term meaning to recover or regain possession of property that has been wrongfully taken or detained, typically through a court order.

1. The farmer decided to replevy his stolen livestock through legal action.
2. After the court ruled in his favor, he was able to replevy his belongings from the creditor.
3. The attorney explained the process of replevying property to her anxious client.
4. In a surprising turn, the plaintiff opted to replevy the seized assets rather than wait for a settlement.
5. She filed a replevy action to retrieve her artwork that had been wrongfully taken.
6. The farmer decided to replevy his stolen tractor after discovering its location.
7. In a rare legal twist, the judge allowed the defendant to replevy the artwork pending trial.
8. After a lengthy dispute, it was determined that the plaintiff could replevy the property in question.
9. The company sought to replevy the equipment that had been wrongfully taken by a former employee.
10. To protect his interests, the businessman initiated a replevy action against the contractor.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/replevy>