

REPOUR

Meaning: REPOUR: to pour a liquid again, typically to improve its quality or to correct a mistake.

1. After the first pour, I decided to repour the wine to let it breathe longer.
2. She carefully poured the paint into the tray, but had to repour it after spilling some.
3. To achieve a smoother texture, the chef suggested I repour the sauce into a clean pan.
4. The barista noticed the coffee was too strong, so she chose to repour it with less grounds.
5. After the initial attempt failed, they opted to repour the mixture for a better consistency.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/repour>