REPREHENDER

Meaning: Reprehender (verb): to criticize or express disapproval of someone or something for wrongdoing or undesirable behavior.

1. The teacher felt it was her duty to repre-hender any form of cheating in her classroom.

2. Despite his best intentions, his harsh words seemed to repre-hender rather than motivate the team.

3. In her novel, the author chose to repre-hender the main character for his unethical decisions.

4. The manager decided to repre-hender the employee publicly to emphasize the importance of following company policy.

5. It is often more effective to guide rather than repre-hender when encouraging positive behavior.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/reprehender