REPRIEVE

Meaning: Reprieve: a temporary relief or postponement from a difficult or distressing situation.

1. The judge granted a last-minute reprieve to the defendant, allowing for further examination of new evidence.

2. After weeks of uncertainty, the workers received a reprieve from layoffs, as the company secured additional funding.

3. The unexpected rain provided a reprieve from the scorching heat, bringing relief to the exhausted townspeople.

4. She hoped for a reprieve from her hectic schedule during the upcoming holiday weekend.

5. The peace treaty offered a reprieve for both sides, allowing them to rebuild and recover from years of conflict.

6. The governor's decision to grant a reprieve brought relief to the convicted man facing execution.

7. After a long week of stress, she felt as if a weekend getaway was a much-needed reprieve.

8. The unexpected rain provided a brief reprieve from the sweltering heat of the summer sun.

9. His heartfelt apology seemed to offer her a reprieve from the anger she had been holding onto.

10. The judge granted a reprieve, allowing the defendant more time to prepare for the trial.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/reprieve