

RESCRIPTIVELY

Meaning: Rescriptively refers to an approach that emphasizes and adheres to established rules and standards in language usage rather than accepting evolving or informal variations.

1. The teacher approached grammar rescriptively, emphasizing traditional rules over modern usage.
2. In her lecture, she analyzed how language evolves both descriptively and prescriptively.
3. The book focused on the rescriptively imposed standards of written English in academic settings.
4. Linguists debated whether their role should be descriptive or rescriptively normative.
5. He argued that language should be taught rescriptively to maintain clarity and precision in communication.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/rescriptively>