

RESENTIMENT

Meaning: Resentment is a feeling of deep-seated bitterness or indignation resulting from perceived unfair treatment or jealousy.

1. She felt a deep sense of resentment toward her colleague for receiving the promotion she believed she deserved.
2. His resentment simmered beneath the surface, affecting his interactions with those who had overlooked his contributions.
3. The story explored themes of resentment and betrayal in relationships strained by jealousy and rivalry.
4. Despite her attempts to reconcile, the resentment in their friendship lingered, making true forgiveness difficult.
5. They were unable to move past their resentment, which only fueled further misunderstandings and conflicts.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/resentiment>