

REOUND

Meaning: To resound means to produce a loud, echoing sound that reverberates through an area.

1. The sound of the church bells began to resound throughout the valley at dawn.
2. Her laughter would often resound in the hall, bringing joy to everyone around.
3. As the concert continued, the music seemed to resound in every corner of the venue.
4. The echoes of their voices would resound long after they had left the room.
5. In the stillness of the night, the owl's call would resound, creating an eerie atmosphere.
6. The sound of the church bells began to resound through the quiet town.
7. Her laughter would resound in my memories long after she was gone.
8. The music from the concert would resound in the hearts of those who attended.
9. As the speech concluded, applause resounded throughout the auditorium.
10. The echoes of their argument continued to resound in his mind for days.
11. The sound of the church bells began to resound across the quiet village, signaling the start of the festive celebration.
12. Her laughter would often resound in the hallways, bringing joy to everyone who heard it.
13. As the final notes of the symphony played, the applause began to resound throughout the concert hall.
14. The coach's motivational speech seemed to resound in the players' hearts, inspiring them to give their best effort.
15. In the stillness of the night, the howling wind would resound through the trees, creating an eerie atmosphere.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/resound>