

RESTRINGENT

Meaning: RESTRINGENT (adjective): Having the ability to constrict or tighten tissues or surfaces, often used in a medical or botanical context to describe substances that promote firmness or retention.

1. The doctor prescribed a restringent medication to help tighten the tissues around the wound.
2. In botanical terms, the plant's leaves exhibit a restringent quality that helps retain moisture.
3. During the presentation, the speaker highlighted the restringent effects of certain chemicals in the environment.
4. After the injury, the physiotherapist recommended a restringent treatment to promote healing.
5. The herbal remedy was known for its restringent properties and was commonly used for digestive issues.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/restringent>