

RETURN

Meaning: Return: to give back or send back something that was previously received or to come back to a previous state or place.

1. She decided to return the dress she bought because it didn't fit properly.
2. After a long day at work, he looked forward to the return of his quiet evenings at home.
3. The package was scheduled to return to the sender due to an incorrect address.
4. In order to complete the project, they needed to return to the original design plan.
5. The athlete made a remarkable return to the field after recovering from injury.
6. She decided to return the dress because it didn't fit well.
7. After a long vacation, it felt good to return home and relax.
8. The library allows patrons to return books anytime during the week.
9. He promised to return the favor by helping her with her project.
10. The company offered a full refund if customers chose to return their purchase.
11. She decided to return the dress because it didn't fit properly.
12. After a long day at work, he was eager to return home and relax.
13. The library has a strict policy that requires you to return books on time.
14. They plan to return to the same beach they visited last summer for their vacation.
15. His decision to return to school after many years was met with support from his family.