

REVICTUAL

Meaning: Revictual (verb): To supply a ship or crew with fresh provisions or supplies, especially before a journey or after a period at sea.

1. The captain ordered the crew to revictual the ship before their long voyage.
2. After weeks at sea, the sailors were relieved to finally reach a port to revictual.
3. In the midst of their expedition, the team realized they needed to revictual to continue their research.
4. The military convoy made a strategic stop to revictual and ensure their supplies were sufficient.
5. As the winter approached, the villagers worked tirelessly to revictual for the harsh months ahead.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/revictual>