

REVILER

Meaning: A reviler is a person who criticizes or insults others in a harsh or abusive manner, often through personal attacks rather than rational discourse.

1. The reviler in the debate resorted to personal attacks rather than addressing the arguments presented.
2. After being called a reviler by his opponents, he decided to focus on constructive criticism instead.
3. Her reputation as a reviler made it difficult for her to maintain friendships in the small community.
4. In an attempt to silence the reviler, the committee implemented new guidelines for respectful discourse.
5. Despite being labeled a reviler, he believed he was merely expressing honest opinions about the issue.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/reviler>