

REXPULSION

Meaning: REXPULSION: The act of forcing or pushing something away, often referring to the release or discharge of gases or substances.

1. The sudden expulsion of air from the balloon startled everyone in the room.
2. The scientist studied the expulsion of gases from the volcano during the eruption.
3. Her expulsion from the club was a shock to all of her friends.
4. The team's poor performance led to the expulsion of several members from the league.
5. His harsh words resulted in a feeling of expulsion among the group during the meeting.
6. The sudden expulsion of air from the balloon created a loud popping sound.
7. Her expulsion from the team came as a shock to everyone who knew her dedication.
8. The scientific experiment demonstrated the expulsion of gas from the heated liquid.
9. He felt a strong sense of expulsion when he was asked to leave the event unexpectedly.
10. The committee discussed the potential expulsion of members who violated the code of conduct.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/repulsion>