

RIPRAP

Meaning: Riprap is a layer of large stones or broken concrete placed on slopes or shorelines to prevent erosion and stabilize the ground.

1. The engineers suggested using riprap to stabilize the riverbank against erosion.
2. During the storm, the riprap held firm, preventing further damage to the shoreline.
3. Ecologists studied how riprap affects local marine life and sediment movement.
4. The construction crew carefully placed the riprap along the coast to protect the new development.
5. Riprap can be an effective solution for preventing soil erosion in vulnerable areas.
6. The engineers recommended using riprap to prevent erosion along the riverbank.
7. During the construction of the coastal defense, large stones were laid out as riprap to absorb wave energy.
8. The environmental study highlighted the effectiveness of riprap in stabilizing the shoreline.
9. Local wildlife adapted well to the new habitat created by the riprap installation.
10. After heavy rains, the riprap successfully protected the foundation of the nearby trail from washing away.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/riprap>