

ROUNDING

Meaning: Rounding refers to the process of making an object or value smoother or simpler, either by altering its shape or by adjusting numerical values to a nearby, more convenient figure.

1. Rounding the corners of the table made it safer for young children.
2. The teacher explained the concept of rounding numbers to her students.
3. After rounding up all the funds, they were able to donate to the charity.
4. Rounding off the edges of the paper gave the craft project a polished look.
5. He was praised for his rounding of data which made it easier to understand.
6. Rounding the corner, she noticed a quaint little café that she had never seen before.
7. The teacher emphasized the importance of rounding when performing calculations to simplify answers.
8. Rounding up the children, the camp counselor led them to the activity area for the afternoon games.
9. His rounding movements on the dance floor were smooth and captivating, drawing everyone's attention.
10. The rounding errors in the data analysis caused discrepancies in the final report.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/rounding>