

RUDDERHOLE

Meaning: RUDDERHOLE (noun): A hole in a boat or ship's hull through which the rudder is mounted, allowing for steering and maneuverability.

1. The sailor inspected the rudderhole for any signs of wear or damage before setting sail.
2. During the storm, water began to leak through the rudderhole, prompting the crew to take immediate action.
3. The technician explained that a properly sealed rudderhole is crucial for maintaining the ship's buoyancy.
4. He could see the ocean swell through the rudderhole, a reminder of the boat's vulnerability.
5. After the repair, the team celebrated successfully sealing the rudderhole without any further issues.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/rudderhole>