

RUSSIFY

Meaning: To russify means to impose Russian language, culture, or identity on a region or population, often leading to the erosion of local traditions and heritage.

1. The government aimed to russify the region by promoting the Russian language and culture.
2. Many felt that the attempt to russify the local population would erase their unique heritage.
3. Historically, the policy to russify various ethnic groups often met with significant resistance.
4. The school curriculum was revised to russify students, emphasizing Russian literature and history.
5. Activists protested against the measures taken to russify their communities, advocating for cultural preservation.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/russify>