

SARCULATION

Meaning: Sarculation is the process by which plants form a protective layer around developing seeds, contributing to their evolutionary adaptation.

1. Sarculation in plants often refers to the process of forming a protective layer around the developing seeds.
2. The scientist explained that sarculation plays a critical role in the evolution of certain species.
3. During his lecture, he highlighted the importance of sarculation in the adaptation of organisms to their environment.
4. In some cases, sarculation can lead to increased resilience against environmental stressors.
5. The research team studied the effects of sarculation on the growth patterns of various plant species.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/sarculation>