

SCRUPLE

Meaning: A scruple is a feeling of doubt or hesitation regarding the morality or propriety of an action.

1. She hesitated to accept the job offer, feeling a scruple about compromising her values.
2. Despite the potential for profit, he felt a scruple about exploiting the community's resources.
3. Her scruple regarding the ethical implications of the research led her to withdraw her participation.
4. He acted without scruple, prioritizing his ambition over the well-being of his colleagues.
5. The lawyer's scruple prevented him from defending a client he believed to be guilty.
6. She hesitated to accept the offer, feeling a scruple about the ethical implications of the project.
7. His scruple about lying to his friends prevented him from accepting the lucrative job opportunity.
8. Even in a competitive environment, she maintained her scruple to treat everyone with respect and fairness.
9. The lawyer's scruples often led him to advise clients against actions that were legal but morally questionable.
10. He grappled with his scruple, torn between ambition and the need to stay true to his values.
11. Her scruple about lying prevented her from accepting the lucrative job offer.
12. He acted without a scruple, disregarding the ethical implications of his actions.
13. Despite his scruple regarding the fairness of the competition, he chose to participate.
14. She had a scruple that made her hesitate before betraying her friend's trust.
15. His scruples occasionally conflicted with his ambition, leading to difficult decisions.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/scruple>