

SECUNDATION

Meaning: Secundation is the process of secondary development or the specific arrangement of flowers or leaves in botanical contexts.

1. Secundation is a term often used in biological contexts to describe the process of secondary development.
2. In the study of botany, secundation can refer to the arrangement of flowers or leaves in a specific pattern.
3. The artist's use of color exemplifies a secundation that enhances the depth of the composition.
4. During the lecture, the professor explained the concept of secundation in relation to evolutionary theory.
5. The secundation of various species in the ecosystem demonstrates the complexity of natural selection.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/secundation>