

SELF-COMPLACENT

Meaning: Self-complacent: characterized by an excessive satisfaction with oneself or one's achievements, often leading to a lack of awareness or concern for negative circumstances or feedback.

1. His self-complacent attitude made it difficult for him to accept constructive criticism.
2. The self-complacent CEO seemed oblivious to the declining sales figures in the company.
3. Despite the challenges ahead, she remained self-complacent, believing her past successes would carry her through.
4. The team's self-complacent demeanor after winning the championship was a stark contrast to their usual humility.
5. Even in the face of new evidence, he remained self-complacent, convinced that his original opinion was infallible.

---

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/self-complacent>