

SELF-INVOLUTION

Meaning: Self-involution refers to the process of turning inward for self-examination and personal development, often leading to introspection and creativity.

1. Self-involution can often lead to a process of deep introspection and personal growth.
2. The artist's self-involution allowed them to explore the depths of their creativity without external distractions.
3. In psychology, self-involution is seen as a necessary phase for individuals to understand their inner emotions.
4. During her self-involution, she found clarity about her life's direction and purpose.
5. Self-involution can sometimes be mistaken for isolation, but it is often a pivotal step towards self-discovery.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/self-involution>