

SIGNALMENT

Meaning: Signalment refers to a detailed description of an individual's characteristics or attributes, often used in veterinary or medical contexts to provide important information about an animal or patient.

1. The researchers observed a notable signalment in the animal subjects during the experiment.
2. His signalment provided crucial insights into the patient's medical history.
3. The detailed signalment helped the veterinarian diagnose the condition more accurately.
4. In forensic science, the signalment of a victim can aid in identifying them more efficiently.
5. Collecting a thorough signalment is essential for any successful investigation in veterinary practice.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/signalment>