SKELETONIZE

Meaning: To skeletonize means to simplify or reduce something to its essential structure or framework, often by removing non-essential details.

1. The artist chose to skeletonize the complex design to emphasize its structural elements.
2. In the scientific research, they decided to skeletonize the data to illustrate the underlying trends more clearly.
3. When analyzing the document, she found it helpful to skeletonize the content to focus on the key arguments.
4. To improve the clarity of the report, the writer opted to skeletonize the lengthy paragraphs into concise bullet points.
5. The architect planned to skeletonize the building's framework to highlight its innovative design concept.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/skeletonize