

SOUGH

Meaning: Sough (verb): to make a soft, murmuring, or rustling sound, often associated with the wind or water.

1. The wind began to sough through the trees, creating an eerie melody in the night.
 2. As I sat by the fire, I could hear the sough of the distant waves crashing against the shore.
 3. In the quiet of the forest, the sough of the leaves whispered secrets of the ancient woods.
 4. The old building had a way of soughing with every gust of wind, as if it were alive with memories.
 5. She found solace in the sough of the brook, its gentle murmurs soothing her troubled mind.
 6. The ancient trees began to sough softly as the evening breeze passed through their branches.
 7. As the wind would sough through the valley, it carried with it the scent of pine and earth.
 8. In the silence of the night, one could hear the distant sough of the waves crashing on the shore.
 9. The soughing of the leaves created a soothing backdrop for her thoughts as she sat by the river.
 10. With each gust of wind, the sough of the forest reminded him of childhood adventures in nature.
 11. The trees began to sough softly as the wind swept through their branches.
 12. In the quiet of the night, I could hear the distant sough of the river flowing.
 13. As the storm approached, the soughing of the leaves increased in intensity.
 14. She loved to sit by the fireplace, listening to the sough of the wind outside.
 15. The old house had a peculiar charm, often filled with the sough of creaky floorboards.
 16. The wind began to sough through the trees, creating a soothing melody in the evening air.
 17. As the storm approached, I could hear the sough of the gusts warning me to seek shelter.
 18. In the quiet of the forest, the soft sough of the breeze was the only sound that accompanied my thoughts.
 19. The ancient tales spoke of the soughing spirits that roamed the mountains at night.
 20. Listening to the sough of the waves crashing on the shore, I felt a profound sense of peace.
-

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/sough>