

SPUR

Meaning: SPUR (noun): a stimulus or encouragement that prompts action or inspires enthusiasm.

1. The unexpected news served as a spur for her to finally pursue her long-held dreams.
2. He felt a sudden spur of excitement as he crossed the finish line ahead of his competitors.
3. The government offered incentives to spur investment in renewable energy technologies.
4. Her passion for volunteering acted as a spur to get others involved in community service.
5. The coach's motivational speech was just the spur the team needed to rally and win the game.
6. The unexpected news served to spur her into action.
7. His enthusiasm was enough to spur the team toward a successful outcome.
8. The city plans to spur economic development with new infrastructure projects.
9. She felt a sudden urge to spur her creativity and start painting again.
10. The coach's motivational speech was designed to spur the players to give their best effort.
11. The sudden drop in sales served to spur the team into action.
12. Her passion for the project was enough to spur everyone to contribute their best ideas.
13. The coach hoped that a tough training session would spur the athletes to improve their performance.
14. To spur innovation, the company introduced a new reward system for creative ideas.
15. He felt a surge of adrenaline that seemed to spur him to run faster than ever before.
16. The runner felt a surge of energy as the cheers from the crowd spurred her on to finish the race.
17. His passion for environmental conservation spurred him to start a community cleanup initiative.
18. The unexpected success of her first novel spurred her to write a sequel much sooner than she had planned.
19. To spur innovation, the company offered generous bonuses for employees who developed new ideas.
20. The coach's motivational speech was enough to spur the team into action during the final moments of the game.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/spur>