

SPUTTER

Meaning: To sputter means to make a series of explosive, popping, or spitting sounds, often indicating a failure to function properly or to speak in a halting or unclear manner.

1. The old engine began to sputter before finally coming to a halt.
2. She tried to speak, but only a sputter of incoherent sounds escaped her lips.
3. As the fireworks lit up the night sky, a few of them sputtered and fizzled out prematurely.
4. His voice would sputter nervously whenever he spoke in front of a crowd.
5. The candle sputtered and flickered, casting eerie shadows on the walls.
6. The engine began to sputter as it struggled to start on the cold morning.
7. She could hear the candle sputter as it burned low, flickering uncertainly in the dark.
8. His speech began to sputter when he realized he had forgotten the main point he wanted to make.
9. The old projector would occasionally sputter, causing the film to stutter and jump on the screen.
10. In the quiet of the library, the only sound was the sputter of a pen as she wrote her thoughts down.
11. The engine began to sputter before finally dying on the side of the road.
12. She tried to speak, but her words came out in a sputter of nervous laughter.
13. As the fire started to die down, the flames began to sputter and smoke.
14. His voice seemed to sputter out as he struggled to find the right words.
15. The old projector would sputter occasionally, causing the images to flicker on the screen.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/sputter>