

STOCK-BLIND

Meaning: Stock-blind: adjective describing a state of being overly focused on purchasing or holding stocks without critical evaluation of their value or market conditions.

1. The investor's stock-blind strategy led him to overlook key market signals.
2. In her stock-blind enthusiasm, she accumulated shares without considering their actual value.
3. Despite being stock-blind, he managed to turn a profit through sheer luck.
4. The stock-blind approach can be risky, especially in volatile markets.
5. Many novice traders become stock-blind, focusing solely on price movements rather than fundamentals.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/stock-blind>